Speaking of Mr. Harvey S. English, Sr., who died in this county the first of the week, the Elizabethtown News says: "Mr. English was born in this country, and removed to Breckinridge at an early age, where he resided many years. He was one of the finest gentlemen in the state, and enjoyed the unbounded esteem of all who knew him."

After deliberation of five hours the jury at Indianapolis in the $500,000 breach of promise suit against Carl Fisher, millionaire, instituted by Miss Gertrude Hassler, formerly church singer, returned a verdict for $50,000 damages. Under the first paragraph of the complaint Judge Orbison had instructed the jury it could award any sum up to $500,000.

GREAT HOME COMING WEEK

Would Be Drawing Feature of Pennyroyal First Fair.

THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE HOME

There Is a Great Deal of Work To Be Done In a Short Time.

It has been many years since Hopkinsville had a home coming and it would certainly be a good thing for the Pennyroyal Fair Company to take under consideration the matter of having a "Home Coming" during the entire time of their first fair this year. We see from the papers that at Stanford, Lincoln county, the Knights of Pythias are to have a home coming feature during the fair next fall.

We look upon this as being worthy of consideration by the company, for it certainly would be a feature that would bring hundreds of people from all over our country, provided the company could arrange for reduced railroad rates, and that would be easy.

Since the fair now seems to be an assured thing, and in view of the great amount of work to be done in only a few months, a beginning can not be started too soon. To get ready for the fall fair involves more work and management than can be studied out in a short time. There is nothing whatever to start with. Enclosing the grounds, construction of an amphitheatre and stalls for horses and other animals, putting in a railroad side track and many other things that cannot be thought of until operations are fairly under way, will demand strenuous work on the part of those who will be named by the company to get ready for the first fair.

It seems to be in the mind of those who have been most active in perfecting the organization of the fair company that a resumption of our old-time county fairs will be a great success from the very start. Those who might have appeared indifferent when called upon to take stock in the corporation will soon catch inspiration from those who are working for and investing their money in an undertaking to push Christian county to the front as an agricultural section of the State and will be among the first to put the products of their farmers on exhibition where they will be seen by tens of thousands of people.

But what will be a better drawing feature of the first fair than a Home Coming?

MANY NOMINATIONS ARE MADE IN BIG CONTEST

The Kentuckians Distribution of Costly Prizes Meets With Favor Among The Public.

INTEREST WILL BE LIVELY UNTIL THE CLOSE OF CONTEST.

Contestants Whose Names Appear In The List Today Should Call at This Office at Once.

The announcement of the Kentuckians big piano and diamond contest has created a general interest over the city and county and nominations have been pouring into the office at a rapid rate. About fifty ladies of the city have been nominated, and their names appear here-with, and about as many or more names have been received from the county districts but most of them were received too late to appear in this list this issue, and will be printed in the next issue of the Kentuckian.

Each contestant is started with 1,000 nomination votes. Votes received by the various contestants will be counted three times a week on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week and the standing published in the following issue after each count.

The ladies whose names appear in the list today, should call at the Kentuckian office at once and secure subscription blanks and begin at once to let their friends know they want to secure one of the costly prizes offered in this contest. Don't delay, start today, as an early start makes success more certain. Read the conditions of the contest on another page of this issue, and get in the game to win.

The following ladies have been nominated up to date:

GREAT MEN

Subject of Important Discussion At Athenaeum.

The Athenaeum met in the new Ordinary of Hotel Latham Thursday evening with twenty members present.

Owing to a misunderstanding no regular papers were presented, Messrs. H. C. Smith and T. J. McReynolds being granted further time.

In the absence of a program a Round Table was held on Great Men, each speaker giving his idea of the greatest living man. The discussion proved to be quite interesting, the following great men being presented for consideration: Thos. A. Edison, Wm. J. Bryan, Theodore Roosevelt, Woodrow Wilson, Andrew Carnegie, Chief Justice E. D. White, John D. Rockefeller, Judge Ben Lindsay, Dr. Osler, Dr. Gorgus, who broke up yellow fever in Havana, and Prof.

Brownell said the greatest person was a woman, Jane Addams. Several members discussed ideal heroes without naming them. Judge A. J. G. Wells was present as a visitor and made an interesting talk.

D. T. MORRIS PASSES AWAY

At The Age of 68 Years, Last Wednesday Afternoon.

WAS BURIED IN HIS UNIFORM

Remains Were Taken To Carlisle For Interment, Thursday.

The death of Daniel T. Morris, which occurred Wednesday afternoon, was not unexpected. He was brought here several days ago and placed in the Sanitarium for treatment. The physicians at once pronounced him beyond medical aid and after two or three days in the Sanitarium he was taken to the home of his son. He was a victim of kidney affection, which had made such inroads on his general health that he was brought here from Carlisle, Ky., with the hope that something might be done for him.

He was in the 68th year of his age and at one time was a citizen of Hopkinsville and held the office of book-keeper for the former Consumers Ice Company. He was a man of strict integrity and a devoted member of the Christian Church. Of late years he spent his time visiting his children, his wife having died several years ago. He was also a Mason. The remains were taken to Carlisle for interment yesterday. At his request he was laid to rest in his Confederate uniform, he having been one of Morgan's command during the civil war.

He is survived by four children, John and James R. Morris, of this city; Mrs. Jared Boyd, of Nashville, and Mrs. Nannie Boyd.

CHRISTIAN CO. CASE.

Reversed By The Court of Appeals On Appeal.

The Court of Appeals has reversed the case of Word vs. Commonwealth from Christian county. The opinion was rendered by Commissioner Clay.

First—Criminal Law—Prosecution for Murder—Evidence.—In a prosecution for murder, where defendant was convicted on voluntary manslaughter, evidence examined and held that the verdict of the jury was not flagrantly against the evidence.

Second—Criminal Law—Prosecution for Murder—Threats to Kill Person Other Than Deceased—Evidence.—On a trial for murder it was not error to admit evidence of specific threats by defendant against the life of a person other than the deceased.

Third—Criminal Law—Prosecution for Murder—Impeachment of Witness—it is not competent to cross-examine a witness as to any distinct, collateral matter not brought out in the examination in chief, with a view to contradict him. If a question as to such collateral matter be put to a witness with the intention to discredit his testimony his answer must be taken as conclusive, and no evidence can be afterward adduced to contradict him.

G. W. Southall & Son, C. H. Bush for appellant; James Garnett (Attorney General), D. O. Myatt (Assistant Attorney General) for appellee.

Confederate Reunion.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 7.—Urging that all of his comrades in gray owe it to themselves to be present at the twenty-third annual reunion of U. C. V. at Chattanooga May 27, 28 and 29. Gen. William B. Isdellman, major-general of the Kentucky division, sent out letters to members yesterday. He urges that every camp in Kentucky be fully represented at the gathering.

FACTORY AT NEBO BURNED

Mysterious Fire Destroyed Tobacco Warehouse In Hopkinsville.

IT CONTAINED NO TOBACCO.

One Report Is That The Fire Was Of Incendiary Origin.

Madisonville, Ky., Feb. 7.—Thursday morning between 4 and 5 o'clock the big factory of Imperial Tobacco Company at Nebo was burned to the ground. This factory was operated by Edward Hodge. The cause of the fire is not known, but it is claimed to have been carelessness on the part of factory employees. Incendiary origin is also rumored.

In a telephone communication with Nebo citizens the real cause could not be obtained. The factory is valued at $12,000 to $15,000. No tobacco was burned, as the corps of employees were preparing to begin receiving early Monday. The buyers have been in the field purchasing tobacco, it is claimed.

The fire was discovered too late to attempt to try to save the building which was consumed.

HIGHER RATES JUSTIFIED BY TELEPHONE COMPANY

Change Made To Bring Unduly Favored To Common Level, Say Representatives.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 5.—After taking testimony of the telephone representatives with reference to complaints of increased rates alleged to have been put into effect by the Christian Todd Telephone Company, a merger of several independent lines, the State Railroad Commission took the question under advisement this afternoon and did not issue the anticipated order citing the consolidated company to show cause why it should not be dissolved.

The company was represented by R. E. Cooper, of Hopkinsville. He said whatever complaint at the service may be justifiable, is explained by the fact that the company is spending several thousand dollars making changes and improvements, and that rates have not been increased over those in force by any of the merged companies. He said rates are being adjusted, however. In some instances reductions had been granted certain individuals below the regular rate, and these are being brought up to the level of the other subscribers.

He stated that the company operates no long-distance system, but gives its patrons connection both with the Cumberland and Independent long-distance lines, and that no competing companies are merged.

Attorney General Garnett was present at the hearing with Chairman Lawrence Finn and Commissioners W. F. Klair and Green Garrett.

$2,500 CARNEGIE MONEY.

To Swell Organ Funds in Kentucky.

After having given $15,000 towards the Hopkinsville free library, Mr. Andrew Carnegie has given $2,500 to two of the churches of Bowling Green, to be added to the organ funds. $1,000 goes to the Christian church and $1,500 to the Westminster Presbyterian church. The latter congregation is just completing a new house of worship, costing $50,000.

A Prosperous Religious Body.

One of the most vigorous and rapidly growing religious bodies in America is the "Christian Church," or Disciples of Christ. In about one hundred years this communion has come to number a million and a quarter in this country alone, and there are tens of thousands in other lands like England, Scotland, Scandinavia, Australia, Japan, China, India, Philippine Islands and Africa.

The United States census reports show that this people ranks among the first in percentage of growth. They have a large number of colleges, and these institutions are growing and prosperous. Their ministry numbers no less than six thousand, and some of the ablest preachers in America are to be found in their pulpits.

This religious body has placed before itself a great task. Its standards are high. They seek to restore the New Testament church in unity and ordinances, and teaching, and life and spirit. They have made a valuable contribution to the growing sentiment for Christian union, which is rapidly spreading everywhere. They stand for civic ideals and place important emphasis upon real temperance reform. The late Rev. Sam P. Jones, the well-known evangelist, said he never saw a people that did not ring clear on the temperance question. Their membership includes a number of men in public life like Speaker Champ Clark of Missouri; United States Senator Oliver, of Pennsylvania, and others. It will be remembered that President Garfield was a leading and active member in this body.

The Disciples of Christ are a strong and an aggressive missionary body, both home and foreign. Their strongest organization is probably the Foreign Christian Missionary Society, with headquarters in Cincinnati. This Society conducts missions in foreign lands, Japan, China, India, Africa, etc. The membership in the foreign fields has about doubled in the past decade. The Society supports 99 schools and colleges in the foreign fields, with 5,400 students. And, besides, it sustains 25 hospitals and as many medical missionaries, last year 157,000 patients were treated. The income of this organization last year was over $400,000, and the amount aimed at this year is $500,000. The first Sunday in March is the day appointed for all the Christian churches to contribute to this world-wide enterprise. Every church is invited to give. No doubt the churches in this community will contribute with their characteristic liberality. The rally of all these churches the first Sunday in March is an important event among the Disciples. A large number of new missionaries will probably be sent out to the fields this year.

The next International Convention will be held in Toronto, Ontario, October, 1913. A large attendance is expected. The last convention was held in Louisville, Ky., October, 1912, and more than 5,000 were present.

FISHERIES BUREAU

Important Federal Department Had Very Small Beginning.

Work is Under Three General Heads of Scientific Investigation, Fishery Inquiry and Fish Culture—About 350 Persons in Bureau.

Washington.—Fish, being one of the most important foods, has been the subject of consideration since the achievement of our national independence. But while several states had fish commissions, and the American Fish Culture association, now the American Fisheries society, was in existence prior to 1871, no branch of the government was charged with this question until the year. But matters of importance arising of both a foreign and domestic nature, congress was influenced to pass an act creating the office of commissioner of fish and fisheries in 1871, its duties being to prosecute "investigations and inquiries on the subject, with a view of ascertaining whether any and what diminution in the number of food fish of the coast and the lakes of the United States had taken place; and if so, to what causes the same is due; and also whether any and what protective, prohibitory or precautionary measures should be adopted in the premises."

Although nothing was attached to the position of commissioner of fish and fisheries but "honor and glory," a man, regarded as pre-eminently qualified for the new position was found, and Spencer Fullerton Baird, then assistant secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, was given the appointment. Commissioner Baird entered upon his duties at once, and continued as the head of the commission until his death in 1877. Succeeding him came Dr. George Brown Goode, eminent as an ichthyologist and fishery expert, who had been Prof. Baird's assistant. After less than a year's time, however, Dr. Goode voluntarily gave up the commissionership to devote his entire time to the National museum, of which he was director. Next came Commissioner Marshall McDonald, practical fish culturist and inventor of important mechanical appliances now used in the hatching of fish all over the world, who, like Commissioner Baird, served until his death, in 1895. Commissioner McDonald was the first salaried head of the commission. Following him came Capt. John J. Brice, a retired naval officer, who held the office for two years, and was succeeded in 1898 by George Meade Bowers, the present commissioner.

Until 1903 the bureau was known as the "United States commission of fish and fisheries," and was an independent institution of the government, responsible directly to congress. In that year it was included in the new department of commerce and labor, becoming the United States bureau of fisheries.

From the outset the work of the bureau naturally fell under the three general heads of scientific investigation, fishery inquiry and fish culture. This same classification, extended and perfected, enters into the organization at the present time. Approximately 350 persons form the present personnel of the bureau, of whom all but about 90 are at outside stations, laboratories or on vessels. The land owned and occupied by the bureau at its fish cultural and biological stations covers an aggregate area of 12,000 acres, with a value of $240,000. Improvements and equipments at these stations represent more than $1,000,000, while other property of the bureau includes four seagoing steam and sail vessels, 20 steam launchers and 150 small sail, power and row boats, which, with equipment, are valued at about $300,000. Six fish transportation cars are worth $45,000. The aggregate investment of the national government in property devoted to the fishery service, is thus about $1,585,000. And for its work and no salary for its head!

At the time of the formation of the bureau artificial propagation of fishes was not contemplated, but was instituted by an act of congress a year after its establishment. The fishes to which attention was first given were the shad, Atlantic salmon and whitefish. The work proved so popular that it was extended annually, and soon overshadowed all other branches. The policy followed by the bureau, as enunciated by Dr. Goode, has been that it is better to expend a small amount of public money in making fish so abundant that they can be caught without restriction and serve as cheap food for the people at large than to expend a much larger sum in preventing the people from catching the fish that still remain after generations of improvidence.

A few days ago the treasury department gave out a news item, that tucked away in They Took Him Literally. the strong vaults of the treasury there was $34.72 for every man, woman and child in the United States—that amount being the per capita division of the reserve fund now held there.

In the period of two days Director of the Mint Roberts received 500 letters from all parts of the country in which the writers demanded that they be sent their $34.72 forthwith. One man, writing from the distant west, asked that it be sent in one dollar bill and pennies.

Director Roberts is objecting because what he said was taken literally.

Clinton, Ky.—Mrs. M. C. McElroy, in a letter from Clinton, writes: "For six years, I was a sufferer from female troubles. I could not eat, and could not stand on my feet without suffering great pain. Three of the best doctors in the state said I was in a critical condition, and going down hill. I lost hope. After using Cardui a week, began to improve. Now I feel better than in six years." Fifty years of success, in actual practice, is positive proof that Cardui can always be relied on, for relieving female weakness and disease. Why not test it yourself? Sold by all druggists. The Mediterranean of the North.

The reason why the Hudson Bay project is advocated so warmly is that the bay itself, described by some as "the Mediterranean of the North," is the third largest "sea" in the world and gives access to a region that promises to rival in the future the group of Northwestern States of the American Union. The area of the Mediterranean is 977,000 square miles; of the Baltic 580,000; of Hudson Bay 355,000. Its length is 800 miles and breadth 500, and, compared with the Great Lakes, it is a veritable ocean, for Lake Superior's area is only 31,000 square miles; Lake Huron's but 23,000; Lake Michigan's scant 22,500; Lake Erie's merely 9,960; and Lake Ontario's barely 7,240. The outlet of Hudson Bay to the Atlantic is Hudson Strait, nearly 500 miles long, with an average breadth of 100 miles, its narrowest width being 60 miles, so that this whole marine waste is a great land-locked sea, susceptible of development into a magnificent commercial waterway. The far-stretching expanse of continent which drains into it, formerly known as Rupert's Land, after Prince Rupert, the famous cavalry general and first governor of the Hudson Bay Company, has become the seat of what may far outstrip the empires old and become the homes of peaceful and prosperous millions.—From "The Hudson Bay Route—Trans-Continental and Trans-Oceanic," by P. T. McGrath, in the American Review of Reviews for February.

CHURCH UNDER HAMMER

Sold To Satisfy Judgment Obtained By Former Pastor
For Back Salary.

Philadelphia, Feb. 6.—The Union
Presbyterian church, in West Philadelphia, was sold at Sheriff's sale yesterday to satisfy a judgment obtained by the Rev. Alexander Waddell, a former pastor, for back salary amounting to $6,800. The property, after lively bidding, was sold for $7,950, subject to mortgages amounting to $11,600. The purchaser, whose name was not disclosed by his attorney, is said to be a member of the church, who will arrange for the congregation to continue in possession. The edifice was erected five years ago at an expenditure of $31,- 000.

METHODIST REVIVAL

Good Sermons Are Being Heard
By Large Crowds.

The revival at the Methodist church is now well under way.

Despite the severe weather good congregations are waiting on Dr.
Mann's preaching. There was a decided increase in attendance on the day service yesterday and a good congregation last night.

Dr. Mann's style of address is conversational and it is remarkable how without effort he holds the attention of his hearers.

The old hymns of the faith are being used and the congregation is singing them with zest. The faithful choir, led by Mrs. Foster, is rendering admirable service. Mr.
Witty gives great assistance with his cornet.

There will be no afternoon service today, but service at 7:15. Further announcements will be made at the Sunday morning service.

Oil In Allen.

Funk, Gish & Co., of West Virginia,
while drilling on the J. W. Ogle's farm near Petroleum, in Allen country, struck one of the largest oil wells that can be found in the county since the famous Porter well in 1865. It is reported by those in charge of the drilling that the well is producing fifty barrels a day. This is the seventh well found in that section within the last six months. There are now eight rigs drilling in the county.

Lunatic Makes Escape.

Dr. H. P. Sights, superintendent of the Western Kentucky asylum for the insane at Hopkinsville notified Sheriff George W. Houser of the escape of Lee Dilworth, a McCracken county lunatic, from the asylum recently. Sheriff Houser and several deputies left Tuesday afternoon to search for Dilworth, who is reported to have been in the vicinity of Woodville. Dilworth is not criminally insane.—News Democrat.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear.
There is only one way to cure deafness,
and that is by constitutional remedies.
Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the tube is restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; no
cures out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by an inflamed condition of the

After Long Suffering

Women Are Constantly Being Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Worth mountains of gold," says one woman. Another says, "I would not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for all the other medicines for women in the world." Still another writes, "I should like to have the merits of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound thrown on the sky with a searchlight so that all suffering women could read and be convinced that there is a remedy for their ills."

We could fill a newspaper ten times the size of this with such quotations taken from the letters we have received from grateful women whose health has been restored and suffering banished by Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Why has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound accomplished such a universal success? Why has it lived and thrived and kept on doing its glorious work among the sick women of the world for more than 30 years?

Simply and surely because of its sterling worth. The reason no other medicine has ever approached its success is plainly and simply because there is no other medicine so good for women's ills.

Here are two letters that just came to the writer's desk—only two of thousands, but both tell a comforting story to every suffering woman who will read them—and be guided by them.

FROM MRS. D. H. BROWN.

Iola, Kansas.—"During the Change of Life I was sick for two years. Before I took your medicine I could not bear the weight of my clothes and was bloated very badly. I doctored with three doctors but they did me no good. They said nature must have its way. My sister advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I purchased a bottle. Before it was gone the bloating left me and I was not so sore. I continued taking it until I had taken 12 bottles. Now I am stronger than I have been for years and can do all my work, even the washing. Your medicine is worth its weight in gold. I cannot praise it enough. If more women would take your medicine there would be more healthy women. You may use this letter for the good of others."—Mrs. D. H. Brown, 809 North Walnut Street, Iola, Kan.

Lunches By P. P.

An innovation in lunch delivery by parcels post was started in Chicago when a downtown restaurant sent out 300 meals in pasteboard packages to brokers, bankers, real estate men, clerks and persons of other occupations. The packages were mailed so they would be delivered shortly before the noon hour. The idea was evolved as a solution to the short lunch period.

SECRET OF GOOD FOOD

INDIVIDUALITY IN COOKING IS

TO BE DESIRED.

Woman Who Puts Herself Into Her Work Is the One Whose Meals Are Palatable.

A prominent Englishman, commenting on us and our institutions, says that the food provided in the large hotels is as good as can be expected outside of a small restaurant.

It is a criticism that has more in it than seems, for if most of us were offered the choice of a meal at a large hotel or a small restaurant would we not take the large hotel? Yet the right kind of small restaurant would in all probability furnish us with a more palatable meal. For in the right kind of small restaurant one gets personal cookery. And delightful individuality in cooking is as much to be desired as in anything else. All the places that are famous for their cookery are famous because of some personality. They become known through their chef. They are spoken of as Oscar's, or Josef's, or Mme. Gruyere's. It is the personality of Oscar, or Josef, or madame that is the sauce piquante of the cookery there.

It is this lack of personal cookery that makes the food offered in some restaurants and boarding houses so tasteless. It is as insipid as a person without any kind of individuality. In certain kinds of restaurants, from Maine to California, roast lamb tastes the same, and coffee is the same brown, insipid drink. The cook in these restaurants probably says "Lamb's lamb," and salts and peppers it mechanically, with her mind on something else, slams it into the oven, and thinks cooking is beastly work anyway, and she's going to get another job.

Whereas the cook who adds personality to her cooking studies her roast carefully, noting its weight and quality, dusts with pepper and salt thoughtfully, to get just the right quantity, adds a bit of this herb, a hint of that spice, watches it assiduously, bastes it frequently and sends it to the table with joy, knowing it is juicy and tender and has a flavor all its own.

She is putting herself into her work. She is expressing herself through her work. And isn't this more worth while, just for one's own sake, than to go expressionless?

Some of us look upon cooking as mental and beneath us. And we do not care very much what kind of cooking we turn out. But if we are going to do it, why not put ourselves into it? Why not give it personality and piquancy? Why not let it become famous in our circle, our village or our town? It is worth while to express our best selves in whatever medium we take up.

BARBARA BOYD.

WASHING VELVET.

Few women have success in washing white chiffon veils and scarfs, and attempt to clean them in various ways, but they can be washed successfully, and the method is very simple. Use water that is only tepid, not hot, add a pinch of borax to soften it, and then make a good suds with some good white soap, says the Ladies' World. Let the chiffon soak in this for about fifteen or twenty minutes and then squeeze it gently with the hands until quite clean, but never wring or twist it. Rinse through several waters, adding just a suspicion of bluing to the last water. Lay smoothly on a towel or clean cloth and press between the layers with a moderately hot iron before it is quite dry. Very hot irons or hot water will yellow white chiffon, and then, too, a too hot iron is apt to stick and pull the chiffon out of shape.

Not An Experiment.

Paint Lick, Ky.—Mrs. Mary Freeman, of this place, says: "Before I commenced to take Cardui, I suffered so much from womanly trouble. I was so weak that I was down on my back nearly all the time. Cardui has done me more good than any medicine I ever took in my life. I can't possibly praise it too highly." You need not be afraid to take Cardui. It is no new experiment. For fifty years, it has been found to relieve headache, backache, and similar womanly troubles. Composed of gentle-acting, herb, ingredients, Cardui builds up the strength, preventing much unnecessary pain. Try it for your troubles, today. Advertisement.

ELKS TO JOLLIFY

Will Celebrate Their Anniversary With An Open Session.

The Elks are preparing to celebrate their lodge anniversary on the evening of Feb. 14, with an open session to which all Elks will be invited. Those who are opposed to having a jolly good time are advised to stay away. There will be light refreshments followed by a smoker and talkfest in the lodge room. The preparation of the program is in the hands of L. H. Davis, T. C. Underwood, A. G. Chapman and A. C. Overshiner.

We want men or women to represent our fast selling line, can make from $4.00 to $10.00 per day. Why not make this easy money during the next few months. Don't delay, write today.

Romance Ended.

Lorena Perry Hegeman, a Memphis school girl, who was married to J. L. Hegeman in New York in 1911 has secured a divorce and is still in the school she was attending at the time. She traces her family tree to the Oliver Hazard Perry branch, being a daughter of R. H. Perry, of Memphis.

Will This Be?

Urey Woodson, of the Owensboro Messenger, says: "If Joe Blackburn should also conclude to get into the senatorial race and tell in his old-fashioned sledge-hammer style what he knows about some things, there will be no moments of dullness in Kentucky this spring and summer."

Kitty's Nine Lives.

The Kitty league has a cat beaten to a frazzle when it comes to possessing more than the required number of lives. The Kitty dies every fall only to come to life again every spring. They can't kill the Kitty, can they, Dr. Bassett?—Louisville Herald.

FOR HIS WIFE'S EARS ONLY

Business Man Couldn't Find Redemptive Feature in Makeup of His New Stenographer.

"How do you like your new stenographer?"

"I don't like her at all."

"What's the trouble?"

"Oh, she isn't any good. If it wasn't such a bother to break a new one I'd let her go tomorrow."

"I understood from what your chief clerk said that you considered her a gem."

"He must have been thinking of the one I had before. There was a woman who had some sense. She was old enough to pay attention to business instead of thinking of her clothes or her beau. I'm mighty sorry she inherited money so that it wasn't necessary for her to keep on working."

"I was in to see you yesterday. Sorry I missed you. I had a little talk with the new girl. She seemed to me to be rather interesting."

"You wouldn't think so if you had to have her in your office."

"Isn't she good at taking dictation?"

"Fair—that's all. As soon as business lets up a little I'm going to discharge her. I don't want her around the place. Just now we are so badly rushed that I couldn't get along with a green girl who didn't know anything about our line. And the next time I'm going to try to get a woman who has got past the frivolous age."

"I thought the way she spoke that she was keenly interested in your business, and that you probably placed a good deal of confidence in her. Mighty pretty, too. A regular peach. I'm surprised that—"

"Sh-h-h! Confound it! Can't you see that my wife's listening?"

IN SAME CLASS.

Guest—Ten dollars a day! Can't you make a reduction? I'm a robber.

Hotel Proprietor—What's that to do with it?

Guest—I thought perhaps that you recognized the profession.

Apprehension.

"You are nervous, sir, are you not?"

"Yes, sir. I shall be nervous until the drafting season is passed and gone."

"The drafting season?"

"Yes—for cooks! I live in the suburbs, you know. We are divided into leagues out there—major and minor, and each league is further divided into classes. To the major league belong those families whose ears cost more than 2,500, to the minor league those whose ears cost less. My family is in Class B of the minor league, which means that our cook is subject to draft Class A of the minor league and all the classes of the major league. A number of scouts have dined with us, and—in short, I fear the worst."—Puck.

Took the Tail End.

The Lancashire people are fond of dogs—in fact, they're very proud of them, and, therefore, when a prominent dog fancier came home one night and found his son had bought a nondescript mongrel he was rather riled.

"How much didst thou give for that dog?" he inquired.

"Five shillings," replied the son.

"Tell thee what A'll do," replied the parent. "A'll go shares wi' thee. A'll give thee half a crown for ma share."

The half crown was duly paid, then the father remarked:

"A'll tak' t' tail end, and A'm goin' to kick my half outen t' door!"

And he did.—London Tit-Bits.

Why He Remembered.

"Well, Tommy, what did you think of Venice?"

"Oh, I'll never forget Venice!"

"No doubt you were profoundly impressed. What did you see there?"

"I saw the little girl who lived across the street from me, back in Oklahoma City."

A Difficult Feat.

First Actress—I have the latest fashionable gowns to wear in the new play, and I have a fat part.

Second Ditto—Then how are you going to wear the fashionable gowns?

Exceptions.

"The humanity of nature strikes everyone with the same awed feeling."

"No, it doesn't. I took a girl to the circus once and she told me she thought the hippopotamus was cute."

Sure of It.

"I don't know he could do it."

"I'm not so sure."

TO MAKE DREAMS COME TRUE

Never Impossible to Get What One Wants If Proper Amount of Energy Is Put Forth.

There is not a dream which may not come true, if we have the energy which makes, or chooses, our own fate. We can always get what we want, if we will it intensely and persistently enough. Whether we shall get it sooner or later is the concern of fate; but we shall get it. It may come when we have no longer any use for it, when we have gone on willing it out of habit, or so as not to confess that we have failed. But it will come. So few people succeed greatly because so few people can conceive a great end, and work towards that end without deviating and without tiring. But we all know that the man who works for money day and night gets rich, and the man who works day and night for no matter what kind of material power, gets the power. It is the same with the deeper, more spiritual, as it seems vaguer issues, which make for happiness and every intangible success. It is only the dreams of those light sleepers who dream faintly that do not come true.—Arthur Symons.

WHERE PARADES DO NOT PAY

Veteran Amusement Man Tells of Conditions In Europe, Unlike Those In This Country.

It doesn't do for circuses and wild west shows to give parades in England and other European countries, according to Dr. H. D. Rucker of Hereford, Tex., a veteran theatrical and circus man and ranch owner.

"In this country a good parade attracts the crowds to the show," Mr. Rucker said. "In England a parade has just the reverse effect."

"Am I going to the circus tonight? Indeed not. I saw the whole thing in the street this morning; why should I fight my way into one of those beastly hot tents and pay to see the performance over again?"

"That's the attitude the Englishman takes. The same is true of all European countries."

Doctor Rucker lived in Kansas City in the early days.—Kansas City Star.
